

MEDISYS HEALTH COMMUNICATIONS, LLC

Turning information into knowledge

June 2009

Medisys Health Communications was incorporated in 1999 to provide quality professional communications and education in collaboration with pharmaceutical industry grantors, physicians, teaching institutions, and medical associations.

Medisys Health Communications is a privately held, minority certified, woman owned/operated company with a philosophy of working with partners who are committed to providing scientifically-rigorous, evidence-based, effective clinician education.

As a private institution, the growth and stabilization of Medisys Health Communications has been primarily through taking innovative views of partnering with our sponsors, experts, and grantors to develop comprehensive strategies supported by precisely executed tactical plans. This has positioned Medisys Health from being a tactic-based medical education company to being valuable strategic partners with our colleagues.

This year we proudly celebrate our 10th anniversary and look forward to continuing the tradition of providing unparalleled dedication to the art and science of medical communications!

Warmest regards,

Anna Walz
